The Ecclesiastical Law Society logo uses the red primary colour. No other colours or shades are permitted for the logo other than those specified on the Colour & Background uses page.

Part of the Ecclesiastical Law Society branding is the secondary colour palette. This colour palette can be used on any materials when a different colour range might be required, such as Ecclesiastical Law Society's website or PowerPoint presentations.

Century is the brand typography for headlines.

Effra is the brand typography for body copy. Use Arial when Effra is not available (i.e. PowerPoint presentations).

SIZE & SPACE

Ecclesiastical Law Society Brand Guidelines

To maintain legibility the Ecclesiastical Law Society logo should be reproduced at no less than 30mm wide

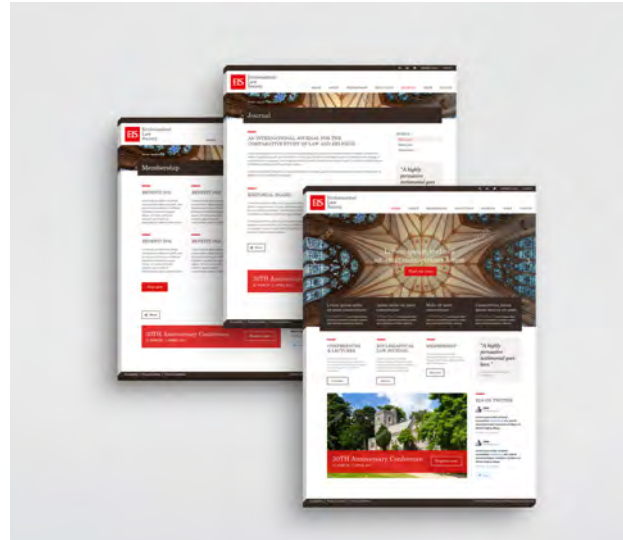

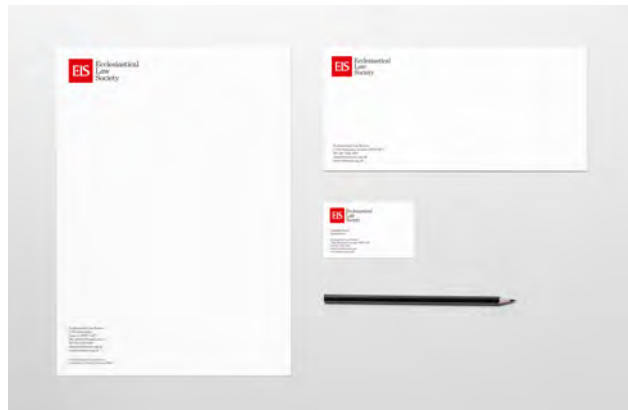

Equally, it's important not to show the logo at too large a size. The recommended size and positioning for reproduction on A4 materials, such as letterheads, is shown on the left.

Ideally the logo should always appear in the top left corner.

The Ecclesiastical Law Society logo should have a clear area around it. It can appear on a coloured or photographic background, but any details should stay clear of the logo.

EXAMPLES OF BRANDING APPLICATION
